

August 2017

Dear Parents and Students,

I am now accepting students for instruction on piano/keyboard for fall of 2017. I will also offer instruction on some of the band instruments.

I recently viewed a TED-ED presentation by Anita Collins. She shared some important facts on the value of music in our lives. Although listening to music engages brain activity, making music on an instrument is more important. I think you will find her research very interesting. You simply need to search for "How Playing a Musical Instrument Benefits the Brain".

If you are interested in lessons, please contact me at 419-991-4886 to arrange a time that will work for you. Lessons are 30 minutes once a week. Times are available after school. I accept all ages even adults. Please feel free to leave a message if I do not answer and I will return your call. References are available on request.
